Customer Reviews

This book was beautifully prepared and rich in flavor. This book was so informative and professionally arranged. My dad loved it.

Bought for my 6 YO son who is in 1st grade and eats the facts up. Well written and a nice balance for each state. Cool photos and facts for school projects.

I purchased this book to go along with our homeschool history and geography curriculum. The book is jam-packed with excellent photos and interesting facts. However, I was disappointed that the maps of the states did not include lines of latitude or longitude, which really limits the book's use as a geography resource.

OK but reads a little like an unimaginative teacher wrote it. The info is good but the prose less than compelling

We homeschool and this is a great resource for basic information on the states. I like it so we are not having 50 different books on the states. If there is one that really interests us and we want more information on then we can go to the library to find a more specific book.

We are studying the U. S. by state this school year and this was a great selection. The states are divided by area. South, West, Northwest, New England, etc... Very happy with it the pictures are colorful and the descriptions are great.

These books (I bought 2) are for my son's and daughter's families. My daughter-in-law, in explaining a school problem her 5th grade son was having, mentioned that the schools don't teach geography any more, so that when he had to study information about different states, he had no idea what states were, where they are located, etc. So I thought I would just pass these along to them, so they'll have them in their homes, in case they might be some help. I won't know if they actually are any help for a long time.

This book was bought for our home to use in our homeschool. It is packed full of interesting facts and pictures on each state. I used it with an 8 and 12 year old and they both enjoyed learning facts from this book. It is hard cover book with great graphics. It is an amazing book for any students studying geography and the states.
