Loving this book. We read, we learn and information is interesting, factual yet easy to follow for my 6 year old. He loves when I read to him but I need him to read more so I read the main text and he reads the little quotes from the blurbs. Each continent is broken down to a few pages about culture, climate. location and major landmarks with a little comic story of the birds traveling the globe to mix it all together. The book also includes a pretty easy to read world map in the center. Each chapter is the perfect length for a bed time story--we have been exploring the world every night with the beloved birds. This has been a great supplement to playing the game Stack the Countries.

I love anything National Geographic and these books are a great way to pass this live along to my children. My son is obsessed with Angry Birds and I can't think of a better way to broaden his general knowledge than in conjunction with them. He has learned so much from these books and can't put them down. Yes, we own every single one in this series :)

Fun way for children to learn about the world. My son who is 5, loves maps and really enjoyed this book.

Easy to read for children from 5 years old up. A lot of useful pictures like scenic and landmark, good for to kid to identify with them. Plus the word are not to difficult to understand and the main point is put across in simple words.

This is our third angry bird play ground book. We love them. Our 5 year old is obsessed w/angry birds so these books help direct his attention to other subjects while keeping him very engaged. Fantastic books!

Holds my 5 year olds attention, and is great at getting him interested in geography. My 2 year old also enjoys reading this book.

my 4 year old is currently obsessed with angry birds...so I'm glad to see the opportunity for him to learn new things about the world with his favorite characters.

These books are the coolest ever. I got these to give to my daughter for her birthday and cannot wait. She is going to love them.
